Second-class matter at the Post Office at Bay St. Louis, Miss., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

High Court Gets a Judge

It's no longer the "Nine Old Men." It's now just "Eight Old Men." That's been brought about in the United States Supreme Court by the retirement of Justice Harold H. Burton and President Eisenhower's appointment of 43-year-old Potter Stewart to replace him.

This is the fifth appointment to the Supreme Court to be made by President Eisenhower. The justices appointed by him now constitute a majority of the nine-man tribunal. After five attempts, the President finally has appointed a justice who has some judicial experience. Potter Stewart has served for four years as a judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, serving Kentucky, Michigan, Tennessee and Ohio. As he was recommended by Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) it is safe to conclude that Judge Stewart is a conservative.

Four years on the Circuit Court bench is not a very impressive record, but it stands out like a sore thumb considering that only three of the "Nine Old Men" had previous judicial experience before being appointed to the biggest and toughest of all judgeships.

The Tampa Tribune, Democratic daily, has published an editorial entitled "At Least He's a Judge." After pointing out that Judge Stewart's service as a judge has been rather short, the Tribune editor concludes, "But it will be enough if it has taught him that the judge's duty is to interpret, not impartially as he can, the written law—not read into it what he wishes to see there."

Top-Flight Salesmen

How is retail trade doing?

Reports from every section of the nation show gains in volume. And this is a real shot in the arm to an economy that was sagging. Increased sales at the retail level mean increased orders at the wholesale level. The factory wheels spin, the unemployment rolls drop and everyone feels the good effects in one fashion or another.

The retailers of the nation deserve credit for helping hold the line. They are top-flight salesmen. When the recession moved in, they didn't turn to the wailing walls and bow their heads. They did everything in their power to attract business and to stimulate trade. They kept up their advertising and in many instances increased it. They made their displays more attractive. They offered the best possible prices. And consumers read, looked and responded.

And that's one important reason why the recession has been milder than many persons anticipated.

Who Will Be Next?

The newspapers of this nation, with few if any exceptions, have closed ranks in denouncing a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service which holds that institutional advertising of private electric companies opposing socialization of their industry is not a legitimate business expense and so is not deductible for tax purposes. The IRS has applied similar rulings to other organizations and enterprises placing advertising of a comparable nature.

The concern of the nation's press over IRS's action is not motivated by any undue sympathy for the utility companies or the other enterprises involved. The basic issue was clearly and accurately pinpointed by the Great Falls (Mont.) Tribune in these words: "If today a tax penalty can be employed against some firms or enterprises to suppress freedom of information, no one knows tomorrow's victim. Democracy is dead when citizens may only be exposed to opinions with which administrative officials of the government are in agreement."

Incentive Price Set for Wool

The Department of Agriculture has announced a short wool incentive price of 64 cents a pound of wool for the 1939 marketing year, which begins April 1, 1939. Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, April 1, 1939. Chairman of the National Wool Growers Association, Washington, and Conservation County Commission, Rapid City, S. D.

1939 will follow the same methods as for the current year, the chairman said. Short wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash return from wool sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by producers for wool up to the incentive price of 64 cents a pound. Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. These payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals shorn in comparison to the incentive price of 64 cents a pound.

Something-for-Nothing Theory Is Contrary to American Way

By GEORGE PECK
President, Leysen's National Committee

The No. 1 phobia of the day would seem to be the search for security. It's a worldwide disease and it is particularly epidemic in America. This "will o' the wisp" quest is very much like a puppy chasing its tail. It is a vain attempt to circumvent stern reality—it is comparable to burying one's head in the sand in emulation of the stupid ostrich—it disregards all the teachings of history.

The elections are almost upon us and the "great promises" are again being heard throughout the land. The electorate must keep its guard up so as not to fall for the blandishments of these promising demagogues—these "quacks" who try to tell us that a nation can spend its way to solvency—these "well-fare-staters" who have a thousand and one utopian schemes, too numerous to mention, all of which are predicated on the false assumption that: YOU CAN GET SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

The 20th Century version of this "Something for Nothing" business originated in Italy, Germany, France and England. It gave birth to Fascism and Nazism (different names for the same thing) in Italy and Germany; it's "Two-Hours-for-Lunch" idea in France, and it led England into the "fairytale" of Socialism.

In 1940, the French discovered that the Germans had paid them a sneak visit while they were taking those two hours for lunch. The Italians and Germans surrendered their freedoms for a promised and imagined security, they sold themselves body and soul to those master salesmen, Mussolini and Hitler. The Italian people soon learned that they had "sold their birthright for a mess of pottage," and not long thereafter, the Germans learned the same sad lesson with the defeat of Hitler. Britain has been reduced from a first-rate power to a second or third class by its experiment with the "You Can Get Something for Nothing" theory.

But, have the fall of Mussolini and the resultant humiliation and disaster that befell Italy, the defeat of Hitler, the crumbling of France and the sad plight of England dampened the ardor of our American "do-gooders," and apostles of "Something-for-Nothing"? Not in the slightest. They still persevere in their efforts to sell the American people on the idea of surrendering individual freedom for an illusive security accompanied by autocratic power.

From now until Nov. 4 would seem to be a good time for all of us to read and reread the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution with its Bill of Rights, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address; to re-examine the fundamentals of our American system of free capitalistic enterprise, with its impelling forces of initiative and competition. It's a time for us to bear in mind that "The American Way" has accomplished more for mankind in 175 years than did all other systems combined in thousands of years.

Most certainly this economic system, which has produced so much for us, must be constantly watched and inspected. We must be everlastingly alert to detect flaws as they appear, and quick to repair those defects. But just as when an automobile develops a dirty spark plug, we clean or replace that plug, rather than throw the motor away, we must make corrections in our American system—clean or replace any dirty spark plugs, rather than relegate that system to the scrap heap as its defamers suggest.

The one outstanding lesson to be learned about the American system by him who takes the time to study it, is that it holds forth promise of reward to the individual for any contribution he may make to society. It has proved indisputably that the promise and ultimate payment of such reward for individual initiative is the cornerstone on which all progress is built.

All of the "Cradle-to-the-Grave" security schemes that it has been our displeasure to examine would remove that stimulation; that incentive to struggle for reward which has sparked the American system to its great success. The adoption of any or all of the idealistic but impractical proposals of the demagogues would not elevate the so-called "submerged section" of our population—such adoption could only result eventually in dragging all of our citizenry down to a level far below that now occupied by the "submerged."

Seedling Orders Still Being Taken

Area Forester Marion Parker reports that the deadline previously set by the Mississippi Forestry Commission for acceptance of applications for forest tree seedlings has passed and announces that some seedlings still are available. He said that commission will continue to accept orders until the remaining seedling supply is exhausted, and urged those desiring seedlings to submit their application as soon as possible.

Mr. Parker said seedling applications may be taken by the county representatives of any of the agricultural agencies.

These include Mississippi Forestry Commission area foresters, ASC office managers, Soil Conservation Service technicians and members of the county agent's staff. He said that seedling prices remain the same, with all species selling for $4.50 a thousand on available species, which are slash, loblolly, shortleaf and longleaf pines and black locust.

Each landowner is eligible to receive 1,000 free seedlings. There is a charge of 35 cents a thousand on all seedlings, for transportation to the county in which the seedlings are to be planted.

Science Kit Received

The Science Department has received a kit of radiological instruments donated by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. These kits are being placed in high schools of the area as part of a waste civil defense program, according to Robert Moore, science instructor at Bay High.

The kit contains two Geiger counters, two radiation survey meters, four dosimeters, one electronic charger and two 10-day meter standards with instructions with each instrument.

Speeches Prepared

Freshmen and sophomore English classes of Bay High, under the direction of their instructor,

Everybody Is Talking About Piccola Dumestre's School of Dancing Nicholson Ave.

Mrs. F. Earl Downs, are preparing speeches taken from their life experiences.

"Boys and girls should learn early in life to express their thoughts intelligently before groups," Mrs. Downs said. "It is an attainment that almost every educated person longs for. There is no other accomplishment which will so quickly make for him a career and obtain recognition as the ability to speak acceptably."

4-H Club Elects

Mary Henderson, senior, was elected president of the Junior and Senior 4-H Club, Tuesday.

Other officers elected for the year are Geraldine Bourgeois, vice president; Gayle Parker, secretary, and Caroline Maurigi, reporter. These girls are seniors. From the junior class Carol Johnson was elected recreation leader and Carleen Garvey was elected to be the group's song leader. The club is under the leadership of Miss Gloria Clay.

Garden Club Elects

Officers of the Junior Garden Club were elected last week in the Home-making Department under the direction of Mrs. Joanna Kryia, instructor.

Girls elected to organize the club's activities for the year are Gayle Parker, senior, president; Edith Trush, sophomore, vice president; Geraldine Bourgeois, senior, secretary and Mary Henderson, senior, reporter.

Mrs. W. L. Pinnell, member of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club and this year's sponsor of the Junior Garden Club, spoke on activities for the coming year.

Encyclopedias Bought

The Bay High Library recently has purchased a new set of the Encyclopedia Americana for the use of students from the 7th through 12th grades. Mrs. Georgetown Hall, librarian, announced that the new set of books has been cataloged and is shelved ready for student and faculty use.

Band Names Officers

Officers of the band were elected in a recent meeting. Fellers Drury, sophomore, will serve as president; Mary Ann Pahlman, junior, vice-president; Irma Garcia, senior, reporter, and Martha Allison, junior, librarian.

The band, under direction of Marcel LaNasa, has played twice for the public, both times at football games. The Junior Band, students from the fourth grade through the tenth grade, played for the first time at the Lumberton football game.

Many students from the fourth through the tenth grade took the Music Talent Contest in the school's auditorium recently. Many of them made excellent. Mr. LaNasa plans to enlarge the number of the band members from 35 to about 50, and the contest showed that many of the students are talented.

Classic Is Received

The American Legion and The American Legion Auxiliary have presented to Bay High 11 copies of the great American classic, THE KEY TO PEACE, by Clarence Manion, as a vital segment of their Americanism Program.

In THE KEY TO PEACE, the author demonstrates that the one and only possible formula for peace was discovered by the Founding Fathers when they inducted and implemented the American Declaration of Independence.

Dean Clarence Manion has written into this unusual and remarkable document a thrilling message of hope.

Gridders Meet Purvis

After a series of games in which the Bay High "Tigers" met rugged opposition from more experienced teams, the squad is going to meet Purvis Friday, at Purvis. It is the Tigers' eighth scheduled game of the season, although the game with Stidell was rained out.

Cage Coach Optimistic

"Prospects for the coming year in basketball look good. We can include 40 girls who are coming out for practice. I don't know too much about the boys yet, as most of them are playing football," declared Paul Langston, cage coach.

Paul Langston, cage coach, is coaching from last year, Coleman Allison, forward, Almon Kautz, guard, outback, and Junda La Fontaine, guard, junior.

Proper Respect for Flag Is Urged by Legion Post

The committee on Americanism of Clement R. Boncompagni American Legion Post has submitted this article on proper respect for the American flag. The article was written as the post prepares for the annual Veterans' Day celebration Nov. 11.

"Which of us ever fails to rise spontaneously and patriotically to the strains of the national anthem?" But—how many of us fail to rise or uncover our heads as the colorful banner flies with courageous promise as a parade goes by? "In the recent centennial celebration, it was noted particularly that a comparatively few citizens who viewed the several parades paid proper tribute to the colors. This must have been disheartening to the members of the American Legion, the Boy Scouts and other groups whose basic training includes full respect and reverence to the American flag.

"It would seem that a disregard for the flag would be taking our national security too much for granted, and it would also seem that the Middle East crisis would have roused us from that false sense of security.

"One of the most remarkable things our foreign fellows find in us, as Americans, is our utter complacency. They stand in awe of our taking for granted anything and everything. The danger of taking anything for granted is in losing it. As long as we are alert and vigilant we are comparatively safe.

"The American flag, adopted June 14, 1777, and established in 1895, has been a symbol of freedom for 181 years. It represents a tremendous loss of your life, given unselfishly or otherwise, in the various battles throughout the years to preserve that freedom. It represents everything worth-while in our country.

"The writer had occasion to spend an afternoon recently with a young Dutch woman who had been imprisoned by the Germans during World War II. The young woman told of the untimely demise of her parents; the cruel disregard for her younger sister's personal reserve; her own slavery and near-starvation and indignities of which she would not speak. 'Never take your freedom for granted,' she begged. 'Preserve it; cherish it and thank God for it daily.'

"A poetical scribe called Solomon, the King of Israel, who was the son of David has written in The Proverbs: 'How long wilt thou sleep, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleep? Yet a little sleep, a little folding of the hands, and thou shalt be poor, and thy mouth as an open grave, and thy mouth as an open grave, and thy mouth as an open grave.'

"A little folding of the hands. A little mental laziness. A little complacency. And a consequent abundance of poverty.

Corn Harvesting Tips

Stop that waste. Mechanical corn pickers, improperly used, can bring losses that more than offset what you save by using them.

Here are some tips to help you cut down that waste. Hand pull row ends about 20 feet. This prevents the picker knocking down and wasting corn while it is turning at row ends.

Also hand pull corn from outside rows that the tractor cannot easily reach.

Some waste is unavoidable when using mechanical corn pickers.

Fertilizing Clover

Many clover areas in Hancock County have faded out because the plant food gave out. Many of these can be brought back to good clover production by simply adding potash and phosphate.

Clovers are high users of phosphate and potash. If you have fertilized your pasture within the last few years, just adding 60 pounds of potash and phosphate to an acre should give good results.

If your pastures have not been mineralized within the last few years, you will probably want to apply 100 pounds of each to the acre.

Two on Honor Roll At Junior College

Dean R. L. Johnson of Pearl River Junior College has announced that Miss Janice Bankston of Clermont Harbor and Miss Ruby LaFrance of Bay St. Louis have made the A and B honor roll for the first six-week period of the current term.

Both Miss Bankston and Miss LaFrance are 1958 graduates of Bay High School.

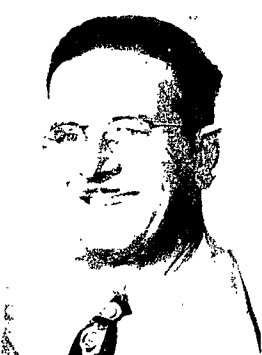

MANY THANKS

We, the family of Toney Bourgeois, wish to express our appreciation to the scores of people who have been so kind and have shown such interest in his condition which was caused by the attack on him while on duty as Night Guard at the jail.

We are happy to report that he is very much improved, and soon after he regained consciousness he asked, "How's Politics at home?"

Although he will not be able to be home before the election next Tuesday, we hope our many friends in the 3rd Ward will cast their votes for him, so that when he does return to Waveland, he will continue to represent you as your Alderman.

Attention Waveland Voters

Due to the unfounded and malicious rumors being spread around Waveland by a certain few people, I feel that, although most of the people in town know me well enough to know they are not true, it is only fair to the taxpayers to publish some figures on the Water and Gas Systems, which seem to be the subject of most of the whispering.

First, I wish to show the increase each year of customers:

| YEAR | WATER CUSTOMERS | GAS CUSTOMERS |
|------|-----------------|---------------|
| 1955 | 721 | 341 |
| 1956 | 744 | 421 |
| 1957 | 797 | 536 |
| 1958 | 856 | 607 |

As you can see, (and as the people spreading rumors KNOW) both systems have shown an increase each year - which certainly indicates that the systems are proving profitable. Next, and even more important, I wish to list the financial status, as shown on the statement from the Hancock Bank as of September 30, 1958:

Water and Gas Bond and Interest Fund, . . . $21,597.61
The bond notes come due every six months, the last note having been paid on September 25, 1958 in the amount of $8,678.75. The next bond note will be due in March.

Other deposits are as follows:
Cushion Fund, . . . $6,400.00
Depreciation Fund, . . . 2,000.00
Contingent Fund, . . . 2,400.00

In addition to the balances in these funds, and with collections for gas and water to come in all winter, one can readily see what fine shape the finances are in of the Gas and Water Systems.

I would like to get over one point to the public. The people spreading ugly rumors which are invented to hurt me, are in reality casting reflection on my political opponents, who, for the past several years, have had the controlling vote on the Board in Waveland.

Having served as Mayor of Waveland for 16 years, and being very proud of my past record and of the steady progress of which I have been a part, I do not hesitate, with all confidence, to ask you to re-elect me as your Mayor. I have proven the kind of government you can expect of me.
